Dear Claire:

Thank you for your letter of March 28, 1980, regarding the booklet entitled "Caution: Asbestos". Unfortunately, it does not appear that Johns-Manville played any role in the development of this booklet. Rather, the booklet was apparently developed by a commercial firm which then, in turn, sold the booklet to various entities with an imprint identifying a purchaser on the back cover. In the case of the copy of the brochure which you furnished me, it would appear that NIOSH purchased this booklet from a commercial firm, and had that firm print the NIOSH name and address on the brochure.

I am sorry that the results of my investigation were not more promising.

Sincerely,

Helen Marsh
